

WNTC Impeachment Attempt Fails

by Nelson Wetmore

An attempt by members of the WNTC radio staff to remove station manager Frank Stanwyck from office failed recently when only 15 of 31 staff members came out in support of his impeachment. According to the WNTC constitution, support of at least 2/3 of the staff, or 21 people, would have been needed to impeach the station manager.

The attempt - was made after several members of the staff allegedly began to question Stanwyck's station policies and leadership ability. As early as last April, only one month after he took office, action was being taken to urge him to resign. When Stanwyck did not step down after being requested to in a letter signed by over a dozen staff members, the impeachment effort was organized. However, at a meeting held a few weeks ago, not enough people showed up to constitute a "quorum."

A second meeting was held on Thursday, October 26, to resolve the issue. After a two hour debate, which was monitored by Gary Ryder of the CCSA Senate Activities Committee, the staff members were polled and only 15 indicated that they wanted Stanwyck impeached. Although several people expressed dissatisfaction with this outcome, there was no indication that the impeachment attempt would be repeated.

The removal attempt was the first such action involving a CCSA organization in a long time.
